EDITOR'S NOTES

It is a pleasure to be with you again after a short lapse of time. You have probably noticed that the preparation of these pages has reverted to my care.

To many of you, this contact is one of the few you may have with Home, the School and your colleagues.

Mr. Booth, the Editor in the interim, has been compelled by business ties to relinquish the position. You will join me in thanking him for stepping into the breach. He, also, has had difficulty in obtaining "copy". My sympathies are with him in this, as the news and information of your movements and activities are very meagre. Probably you find news of your friends the most interesting part of this Journal. Your friends, naturally, would be pleased to read of what you are doing, too. I cannot give you a broader hint. To those O.A.s who have written in recently, please accept my personal thanks.
