EDITOR'S NOTES

It is my duty to thank those O.A.s who have so ably responded to the appeal for news of themselves and how they are settling down. When you have read their letters in the succeeding pages you will agree with me that news of one's old friends in new surroundings makes one feel younger again. Have you written? News from abroad of the circumstances surrounding O.A.s who have gone far afield to make their way in life is most earnestly requested. Apart from making my job easier (which it definitely does) you will find yourself looking forward to our next issue. If you write in, the Old Altrinchamian will be much more interesting. Settle down to it now. If you find this issue more interesting than previously (and it is hoped you will) then let me have the "copy" to work on. Again many thanks to our contributors who have not let a little trouble prevent them from responding. Write now if this copy has inspired you. We rely on you.

THE EDITOR.
