EDITOR'S NOTES

You received the last issue of the magazine later than the date I had anticipated. The greetings contained therein were intended to stimulate thoughts of home and friends. The intention was, you will agree, good. However, the fact that the delivery of the magazine at the School coincided with the period of the rush of Christmas mails, led to some delay, for which Mr. Stuart Alexander, who handles the distribution, was in no way responsible. The work entailed by addressing envelopes and posting them is very considerable. Stuart deserves every credit for this, as his time is very much taken up with other activities. Let my voice, therefore, proclaim praises for the help given us in this matter.

Passing on to another subject, it is sad to reflect on the apathy among our members. It is astonishing to those of us who run the Association (often at considerable inconvenience
